

FoodShare Wisconsin (Food Stamps)

The FoodShare program provides food assistance to eligible households by means of a plastic debit card that you can use like cash to buy food at grocery stores. Over 330,000 Wisconsin citizens use FoodShare each month to stretch their food budgets. Households receive an average of $170 a month. You can quickly find out if you may be eligible by visiting the new ACCESS website at <http://www.access.wisconsin.gov>.

ELIGIBILITY

Am I Eligible?

LOW-INCOME individuals and families of all ages are eligible. You do NOT have to receive W-2 assistance to qualify, but must meet the following criteria:

- You are a U.S. citizen or eligible alien (ineligible aliens can apply because others in the households, such as U.S.-born children, may still qualify).
- You meet the income limits of the program. There are NO asset limits.

What Are the Income Limits?

GROSS INCOME (your income BEFORE deductions). Most households must have GROSS income below the limits listed in the chart.

NET INCOME (your income AFTER deductions). Most households must also have NET income below the NET income limits in the chart. Your NET income is the amount left after subtracting from your GROSS income some of your costs for shelter, child care, child support and certain other expenses. An eligibility worker will calculate your NET income. Most one and two person households that meet the GROSS income limit can qualify for $14 in benefits even if their NET income is above the limit.

BENEFITS

How Much Can I Receive?

THE AMOUNT you receive depends on your family size and your NET income. As your NET income decreases, the amount of your benefit increases. An average household receives $170/month.

What Can I Purchase With FoodShare?

YOU CAN buy food items at most grocery stores, as well as seeds and seedlings for home gardens. You may not buy non-food items like soap, paper products, alcohol, tobacco or pet food.

How Are Benefits Delivered?

YOU WILL be given an electronic debit card resembling a plastic credit card. Your benefits are put into your account electronically once a month. At the checkout counter, you use the card like a debit card. After your purchase you'll get a printed receipt showing the amount left in your account. Other customers will not know you are paying with FoodShare.
